

Statically renovating existing timber structures to reach required safety levels. First, damaged areas must be removed. With the GSA-Technology, new parts can then be constructed onto the existing structure.

more infos